

2026 Employee Performance Review (EPR)

Global Performance Management Approach and Guidelines

For internal use only

March 2026

Agenda

- Employee Performance Review: Overview and Steps
- Goal Setting
- Feedback Guidelines

The Performance Management process evaluates and optimizes performance, guiding people toward achieving business objectives and aligning our teams

WHAT IT ENSURES

- + Clarity on expectations: clear goals, shared evaluation criteria and common standards across the organization
- + Fairness and equal opportunities: objective and consistent evaluations, with a focus on equity and bias mitigation
- + Development enabled by continuous feedback: performance management as a driver for continuous learning and improvement
- + One global performance language: a single framework and process applied across countries and legal entities

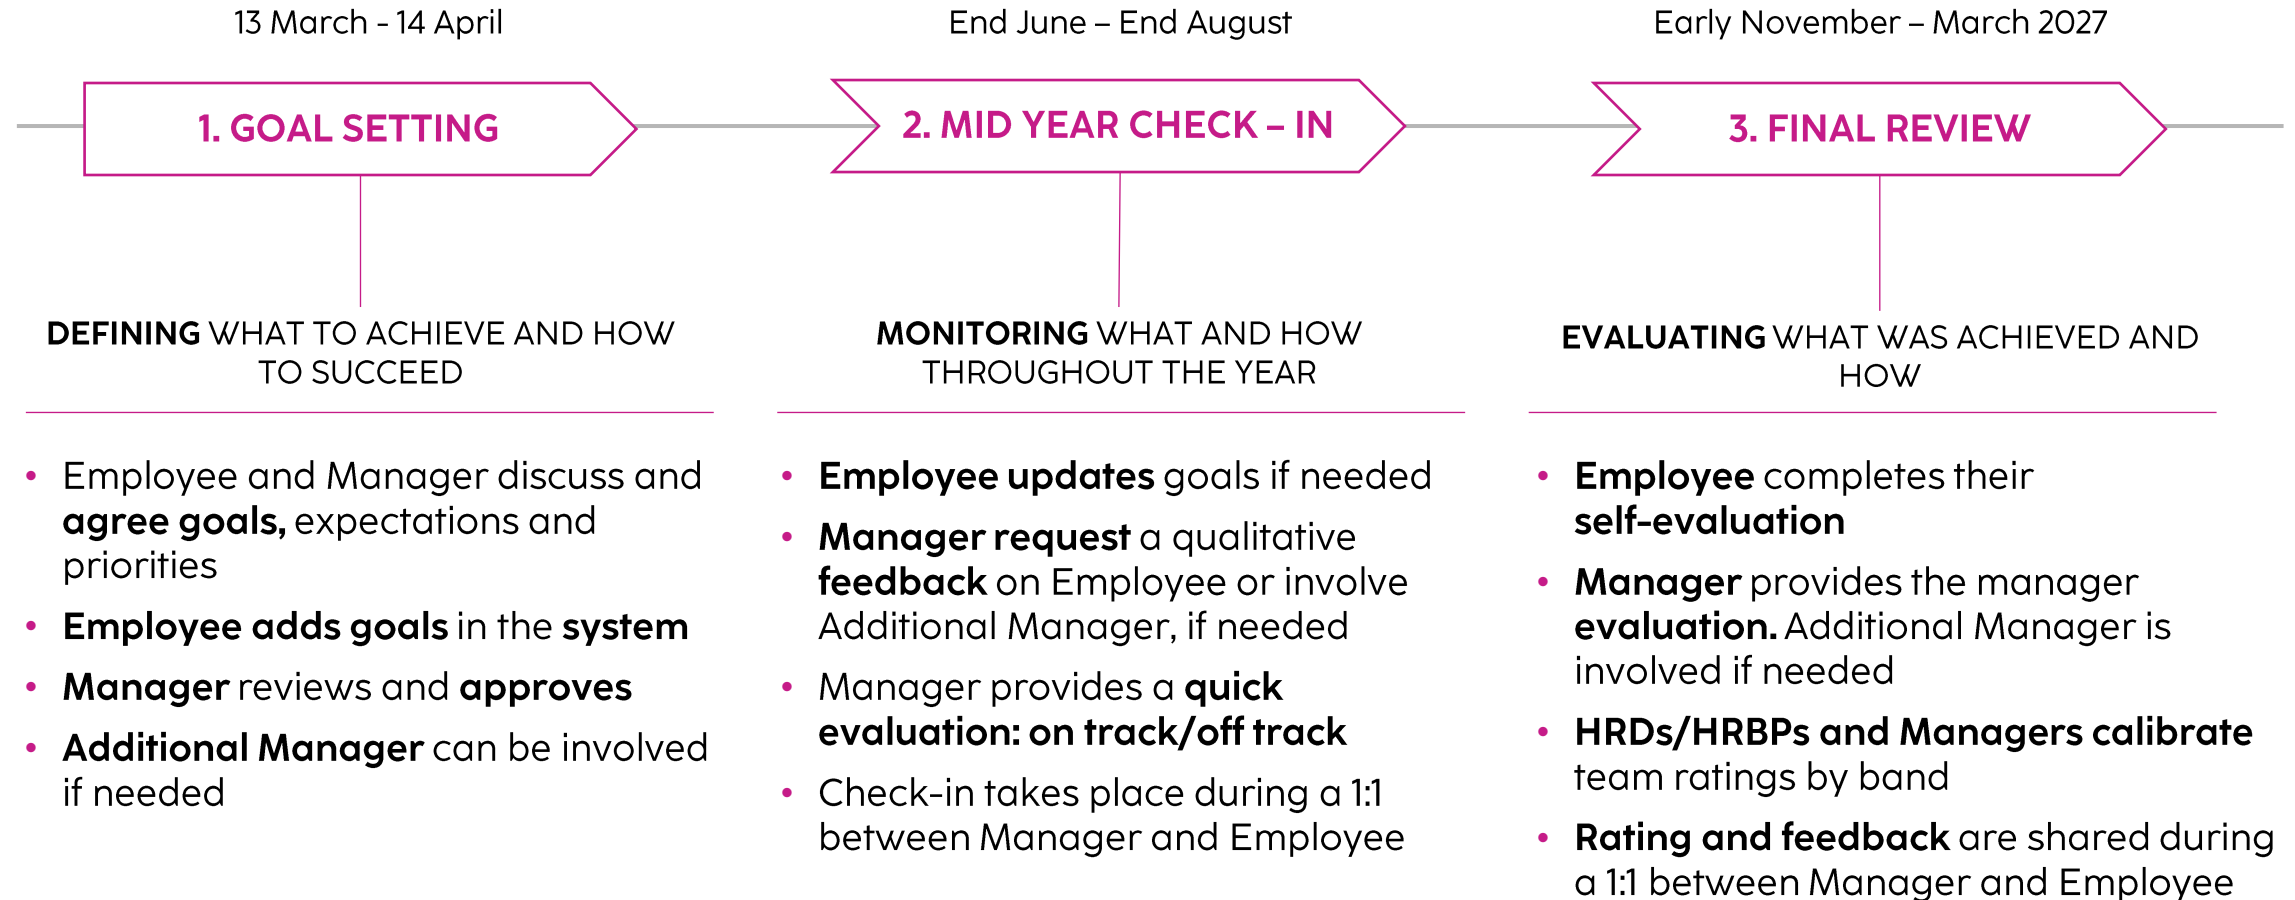

HOW IT WORKS

- + Holistic evaluation of performance: focus on both WHAT is achieved (results) and HOW it is achieved (behaviours)
- + Consistent and objective criteria: Shared standards applied consistently, independently of personal characteristics
- + Continuous and non-hierarchical feedback: ongoing, real-time feedback, including peer-to-peer and project-based contributions (Additional Manager)
- + Gateway to development opportunities: performance outcomes enable access to growth and talent development initiatives

In ENG Group, the annual Performance Management process is called Employee Performance Review (EPR)

The EPR consists of three mandatory steps involving Employees, Managers and Additional Managers

Additional Manager provides additional input on performance when the Employee works across projects, teams or clients

WHO IS THE ADDITIONAL MANAGER

- A person with functional or project-based responsibility over the Employee
- Additional Manager is typically someone who has direct visibility on the Employee's work (at least 3 months)
- Applicable only to specific roles, based on the organizational matrix
- Can change during the EPR cycle, depending on projects
- Additional Manager can be any Employee in the organization, based on role and contribution.

WHEN THE ADDITIONAL MANAGER IS INVOLVED

- Goal Setting: may support goal definition if needed
- Mid Year Check-In: may provide qualitative feedback on goals and behaviours
- Final Review: may provide qualitative feedback and comments on goals and behaviours
- Involvement is not mandatory and is activated only when relevant

WHAT THE ADDITIONAL MANAGER DOES

- Provides qualitative feedback and comments on goals and behaviours
- Supports the Manager with additional perspective
- Does not replace the Manager's evaluation

The report: "Additional Manager Evaluation Status" is available for Managers and HR Team to monitor the requested feedback

2026 EPR / Goals must be defined in a clear and measurable way to ensure an objective evaluation

A goal is defined as “SMART” when it has the following characteristics:

Specific

- ✓ Clear
- ✓ Well-defined
- ✓ Tangible
- ✓ What, How and the Expected outcome

Is it clear what I’m expected to deliver?

Ex: Improve customer service and the user experience.

Measurable

- ✓ Objective
- ✓ Measurable
- ✓ Use KPIs, metrics to track progress

Can I measure it?

Ex: Respond to all tickets within 12 hours.

Achievable

- ✓ Realistic
- ✓ Challenging but doable
- ✓ Considers resources, skills and scope

Is it realistic within my role and context?

Ex: Response times represent incremental improvement versus one year ago.

Relevant

- ✓ Aligned with business priorities and team/project scope

Does it support business/ project/ team priorities?

Ex: Our customer’s experience will determine our ability to grow.

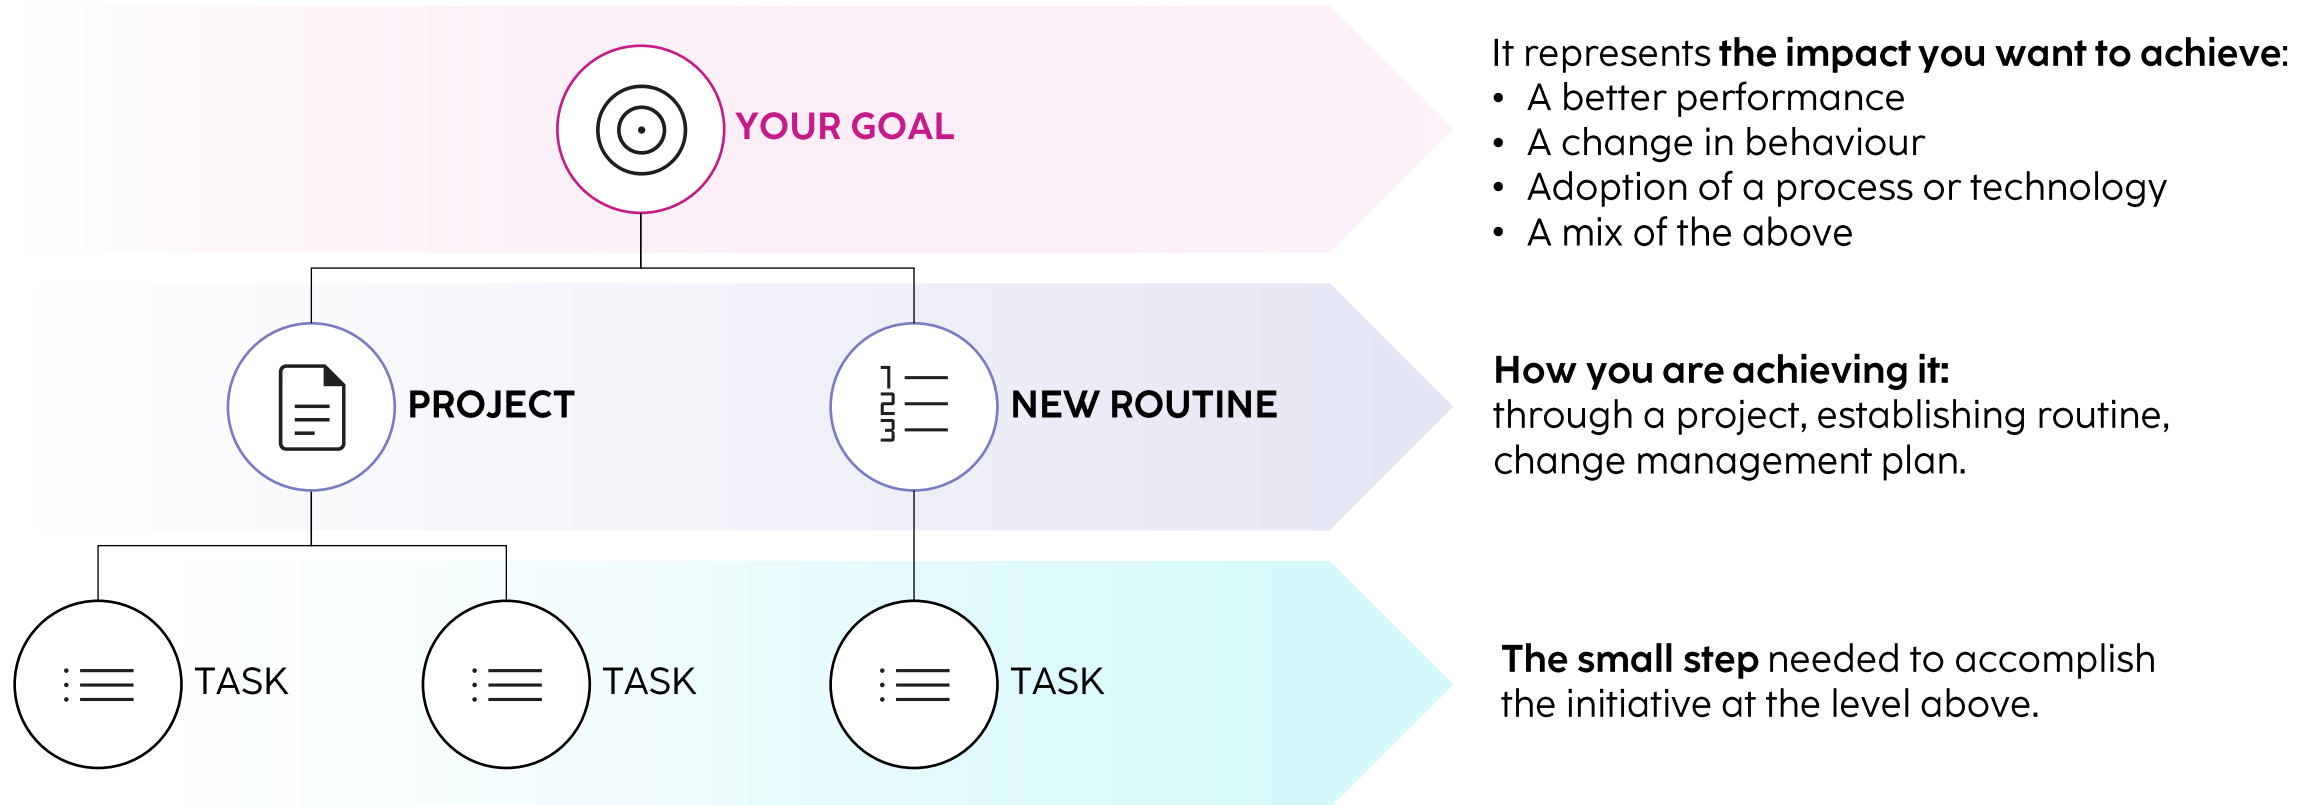

Time-based

- ✓ Clear Deadline
- ✓ Set Timeframe

By when should it be achieved?

Ex: As measured by quarterly metrics for response times

2026 EPR / How to set your Goal

Examples of goals that are NOT CONSIDERED VALID GOALS:

- Completing mandatory training courses: Mandatory training is a baseline requirement applicable to all Employees, regardless of role, and therefore should not be set as a performance or development goal.
- Listing responsibilities of your job role: Job responsibilities represent core expectations of the role and should not be entered as goals, as they are inherent to the position and not specific goal to be achieved.

2026 EPR / Development Goals

Development goals refer to skills and competencies that support people's performance and development.

Learning on the job	Learning from others	Formal training
70% - ACTIONS BASED ON PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE	20% - ACTIONS BASED ON INTERACTIONS WITH OTHERS	10% - ACTIONS BASED ON FORMAL TRAINING

Agenda

- Employee Performance Review: Overview and Steps
- Goal Setting
- Feedback Guidelines

1:1 Feedback / Guidelines

FEEDBACK SHOULD BE:

✓ SPECIFIC

feedback is not a general judgment about the person ("You never do..."), but refers to a specific situation

✓ DESCRIPTIVE

feedback describes the behaviour acted by the person and the effects it produced

✓ SUPPORTIVE

feedback should contain suggestions on how the person can improve their performance

Giving performance feedback

1. Be specific, come prepared with relevant examples
2. Focus on professional behaviours and future actions – things an employee can do something about
3. Avoid referring to personality traits
4. Be honest and respectful
5. Allow for response

Receiving performance feedback

1. Come prepared with relevant examples of your performance
2. Assume positive intent
3. Be open to different perspectives
4. Explain – do not get angry or defensive
5. Be curious – ask for more context if needed

1:1 Feedback / Sandwich method

The best way to provide constructive feedback in a climate of trust is the so-called "sandwich" method, which is divided into three parts:

- 1 Highlight what went well, to reinforce that specific skill or behaviour that remains valuable.
- 2 Point out what can be improved, focusing on the behaviour and the potential consequences of that particular behaviour if not corrected.
- 3 Close the "sandwich" by suggesting how it can be improved on the next occasion on that single task.

1. POSITIVE FEEDBACK

2. NEGATIVE FEEDBACK

3. POSITIVE FEEDBACK

Anytime Feedback / Laddove non è presente Additional Manager bisogna utilizzare la funzionalità di Anytime Feedback. Tutti i feedback non anonimi rientrano nella scheda di Final Review.
