

Laptop Replacement Policy Guideline Nearshore

Purpose

To ensure consistent, cost-effective, and operationally efficient laptop allocation and replacement for all employees, in line with corporate guidelines:

Laptop Allocation

- New hires may receive either a new or a reused company laptop based on:
 - Business needs
 - Role requirements
 - Availability of equipment
 - Device condition and performance standards
- All assigned laptops must meet company security and operational requirements

This decision is made by the local IT department.

Replacement Eligibility

Laptop replacement may be approved in the following cases:

- Device age exceeds the standard lifecycle (5 years per company policy) - this replacement process will be timely initiated by local IT department
- Hardware failure or recurring technical issues
- Performance no longer supports business needs
- Security or compatibility limitations

Replacement Process

- Indication of replacement time will be sent to the Employee by local IT team, minimum 30 days prior to full five years of active laptop usage.
- Replacement requests apart from the end of lifecycle must be reviewed and approved by IT.
- IT will assess and make a final decision based on:
 - Device condition

- Warranty status
- Available inventory
- Permanent laptop replacement for reasons other than years of usage is considered only in cases where the device has technical issues that cannot be repaired or when repair is no longer a reasonable option from an operational standpoint.
- Physical damage that visibly impairs device functionality — including cracked screens affecting display usability or chassis damage affecting hardware integrity — shall be treated as functional damage and assessed accordingly; surface-level wear resulting from normal use (minor scratches, fading) does not constitute grounds for permanent replacement
- In cases listed above, an employee is provided with a temporary replacement laptop while the device is being serviced. Once the repair has been completed, the original laptop is reassigned to an employee

Cost Management Principles

- Reusable devices should be reassigned when technically suitable
- Laptops should be replaced solely by criteria outlined in the replacement eligibility segment mentioned above and not for preference or cosmetic reasons
- Laptop models follow corporate guidelines
- Employees are not permitted to purchase previously assigned company laptops, in accordance with company policy

Employee Responsibilities

Employees are expected to:

- Take proper care of company equipment
- Negligence that results in physical damages caused to a laptop by an employee will be assessed in value by respective HR and IT panel and the assessed value, approved by NS HR Manager, will be deducted from the employee`s salary in full or in installments
- Report technical issues promptly
- Return equipment upon replacement or termination of employment

Employer's Responsibilities

- To act promptly (within five working days) to any reported malfunction/request for replacement
- To have enough laptops in stock for replacement purposes at any given moment
- To closely monitor and check laptop allocation, utilization and coordinate its planning with HR recruitment team
